

Wycliffe needs TEACHERS

Nontraditional education

In many areas around the world, missionary families work in isolation or in small groups. In these situations, parents often carry some, if not all, of the teaching responsibilities for their children. Educators are needed to serve these families as:

- Tutors
- Itinerant teachers
- Education consultants
- Correspondence or internet school supervisors
- Multi-grade one- or two-room school teachers

Traditional education

Some missionary schools are staffed entirely by Wycliffe personnel. Other intermission and secular international schools have agreements with Wycliffe—Wycliffe provides a percentage of the teaching staff based on the number of Wycliffe children attending the school. Education needs for these schools include:

School administrators:

- Principals and assistant principals
- Bookkeepers
- Business administrators
- Administrative assistants and office staff

Specialists:

- Counselors
- Curriculum coordinators
- ESL
- Librarians
- Media and resource coordinators

Boarding home parents

Teachers:

- Preschool
- Elementary school
- Middle school
- High school
- Art
- Bible/Religious studies
- Educational technology/Computers
- Foreign language
- Home economics
- Industrial arts
- Language arts
- Mathematics
- Music
- Physical education
- Science
- Social studies
- Special needs

Following is a list of schools around the world where Wycliffe has a presence. Wycliffe teachers work in nearly 50 locations worldwide. More than 100 educators are needed every year to replenish rotating staff in both traditional and non-traditional school settings.

This list is not exhaustive. Some Wycliffe teachers also go to schools in other countries not mentioned. For further information on places where you can serve, contact the Wycliffe CHED staff.
